RE: New Claims Verification Process

I want to start by stating thank you. Our claims department has been doing excellent work serving customers, and your commitment to helping people hasn't gone unnoticed. You're the reason Acme has such a strong reputation for customer care.

That said, we've run into a problem that I need to share with you. Over the past few months, our company has lost thousands of dollars to fraudulent product claims. These fake claims have slipped through our system, and unfortunately, they're affecting our ability to serve our honest customers efficiently. We need to fix this, and that's where you come in.

Starting February 1, 2026, we're implementing a new verification process for all claims. Here's what it looks like:

1. Check the customer's purchase history and receipt
2. Verify product serial numbers against our inventory system
3. Make sure the claim matches the product's warranty coverage
4. Get supervisor approval for any claims over $500

I know change can be frustrating, but here's the good news: we've built a new digital portal that will actually make your job easier. Our tests show it cuts processing time for legitimate claims by 30%. You'll spend less time on paperwork and more time helping customers.

We're scheduling training sessions for the last week of January, and our IT team will be available to answer questions and troubleshoot any issues during the transition.

This new system protects our company while making sure we can continue providing great service to the customers who count on us. I appreciate your flexibility and professionalism as we roll this out.
